

DOROTA MEDIUM

Disclaimer and Terms & Conditions

Disclaimer

The prices of all listed services are offered only in Canadian funds. Individuals who are making a payment using e-Transfer or other Financial Transfer (such as PayPal etc.) are fully liable for all fees that their bank may charge. International clients are always welcome to use our services but are liable for all conversion rates and banking fees that they may incur from their location.

This site and all services offered should be considered for entertainment purposes only. Dorota and any/all affiliates or representatives of this site or service, reserve the right to determine if services can be appropriately rendered which includes information that is brought forward during the period of time spent for the services. The use of alcohol, drugs or other intoxicating substances as an example, make a reading nearly impossible to do, therefore any mind or body altering substance consumption - in a private or group setting (prior to a reading) is strictly prohibited. Services may be refused to clients who are believed to be under the influence of same. Dorota also reserves the right to refuse continued or future services to clients who fail to show up without providing proper cancellation or rebooking notice (48 hours) to an appointment.

In both private and group readings, there is no guarantee that a connection with hoped specific person can be made. To obtain a reading through Dorota Medium, it is also our mandate to wait at least 6 months (upward to 10 months) after a loved one has passed before attempting to make a connection. Information about the future is also not guaranteed, however any information obtained regarding potential future information will be delivered, where it may assist you.

By booking an appointment with Dorota or other partners of this service, you agree to accept it as imparted – such as simply being a “communication channel” in which information is not altered or withheld. Information that comes through may be sensitive and confidential, and by proceeding with your appointment/session; you agree to release Dorota Medium, its affiliates and or contracts, heirs and assigns, etc., from all liabilities, legal claims and expenses that may result directly or indirectly from your reading, service or choices post reading/services. Post services, you remain entirely responsible for your own choices, health, financial concerns, actions and repercussions that may follow.

Dorota Medium or its affiliates are not able to provide you with any advice with respect to Legal, Financial and or Medical matters. It is recommended that a professional in those fields are to be consulted for advice in those areas. If services are purchased for another individual, the purchaser acknowledges that Dorota Medium and its affiliates have terms and conditions for these services, and the recipient of these services must additionally accept the existing Terms and Conditions of the services.

In order to comply with the law, all individuals seeking any of the services offered by Dorota must be at least 18 years of age or older.

We reserve the right to change these conditions at any time without notice.

Terms & Conditions

The purpose of the services offered on this site and provided by Dorota Medium, Dorota, and or her/its affiliates, are strictly for entertainment purposes which may help to educate you and bring awareness into your life.

All the Media, Information, Photos, Videos and Logos are copyright and remain property of Dorota Medium and are not to be used, altered, shared, copied or re-used without exclusive written permission from Dorota. Unauthorized use may result in legal action and enforcement of intellectual property rights that can include criminal prosecution or charges. Dorota Medium and its affiliates, are not responsible for any use of content (media or otherwise) that is linked to this site, or affiliate sites (including other external websites) or any infringement of rights by third parties that results from your usage.

Dorota Medium makes all efforts to ensure that the information on this website is current and accurate. We do not accept liabilities for direct or related punitive damages from the use of this site or affiliated sites. We also do not allow, guarantee or assume any liabilities as a result of omissions or inaccuracies that may be reflected on this site. This website as well as related social media sites are to be utilized or considered as is without guarantee. Dorota Medium is not liable for any damages or expenses that may come from malware or viruses that infect computers and other technological devices which may have occurred as a result of visiting this site. This website is accessible worldwide, so it is recommended that you familiarize yourself with local laws as they pertain to use regarding this website and potential usage and restrictions.

Dorota Medium reserves the right to revise or change the terms and conditions at any time and without notifying users. Each visit or use of this site is bound by the most current terms and conditions, so it is suggested that you maintain a regular review of these Terms and Conditions.